INSPIRATIONAL LEADERSHIP SERIES

Highly Effective Resonant Teams

Team members believe in the company vision as if it were their own and see how they will personally benefit through their contribution.

Buy-in and make a commitment to do their part.

Aligned with their life purpose and knowing their contribution as meaningful, team members are motivated to give their best.

Apply their unique expertise, talents, and skills.

> Individuals who are, curious, open to learning, and able to change course in mid-stream support an environment of true collaboration.

Display flexibility and repeatedly suspend their agenda.

Team members embrace what they intend to create and how they will show up (the behavior for which they will hold themselves accountable).

> Embody a strong intention of accountability.

Team members demonstrating a willingness to make changes in their behavior bring a deep level of integrity and ease to the team.

> Face beliefs and drop defensive behaviors that impede progress or inhibit harmony.

Team members are steadfast in achieving deadlines and deliverables that meet or exceed expectations.

> Make a strong commitment to being impeccable with agreements.

Communication is crucial to the success of a project. A focus on telling the whole truth and listening deeply is essential.

Continuously demonstrate authentic speaking and resonant listening.

It is a masterful leader who can bring a team together to create outcomes that are satisfying to the individual, and beneficial to the organization. ~Chris Lucerne
